'Old' village of Bannockburn being built

"The village that never was" is being built in the east part of Acton on Hwy. 7, just west of the Fourth Line. Bannockburn, the latest residential development of Peter Zions Construction, offers new homes on half-acre lots designed as a historical settlement.

There are four farmhouse models that are named after families who settled in the area in the 1800s, but what makes it a village community are the plans for a town hall, a church and a school, with exteriors that resemble historical structures and interiors designed as traditional residences.

"The idea came when I saw the popularity of a church in Marsville that we renovated
