Police and Fire services work together for us

As recent tragic events in the United States have shown, there are no braver, or more dedicated, people than firefighters and police officers.

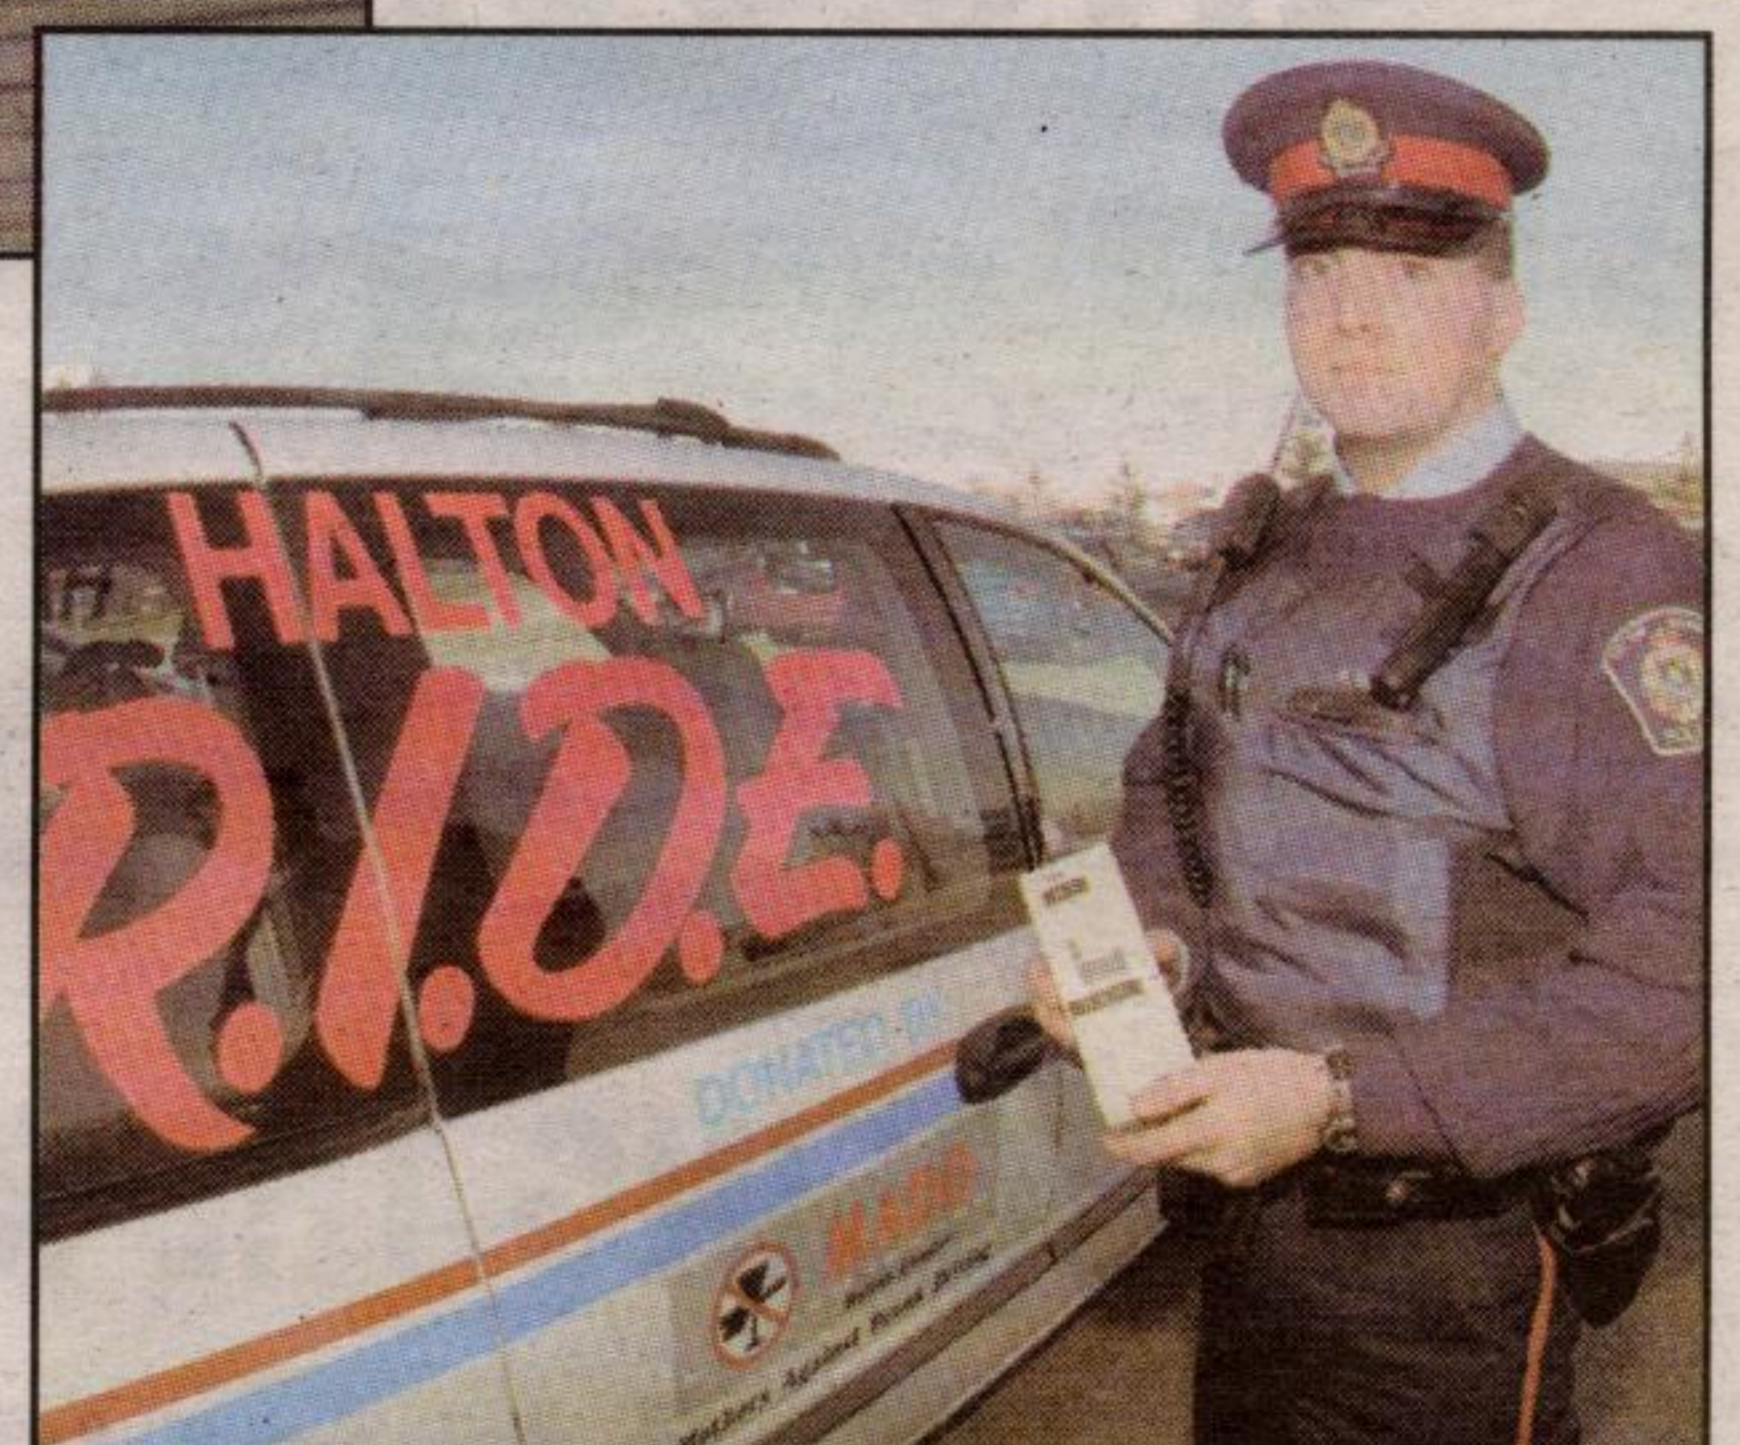

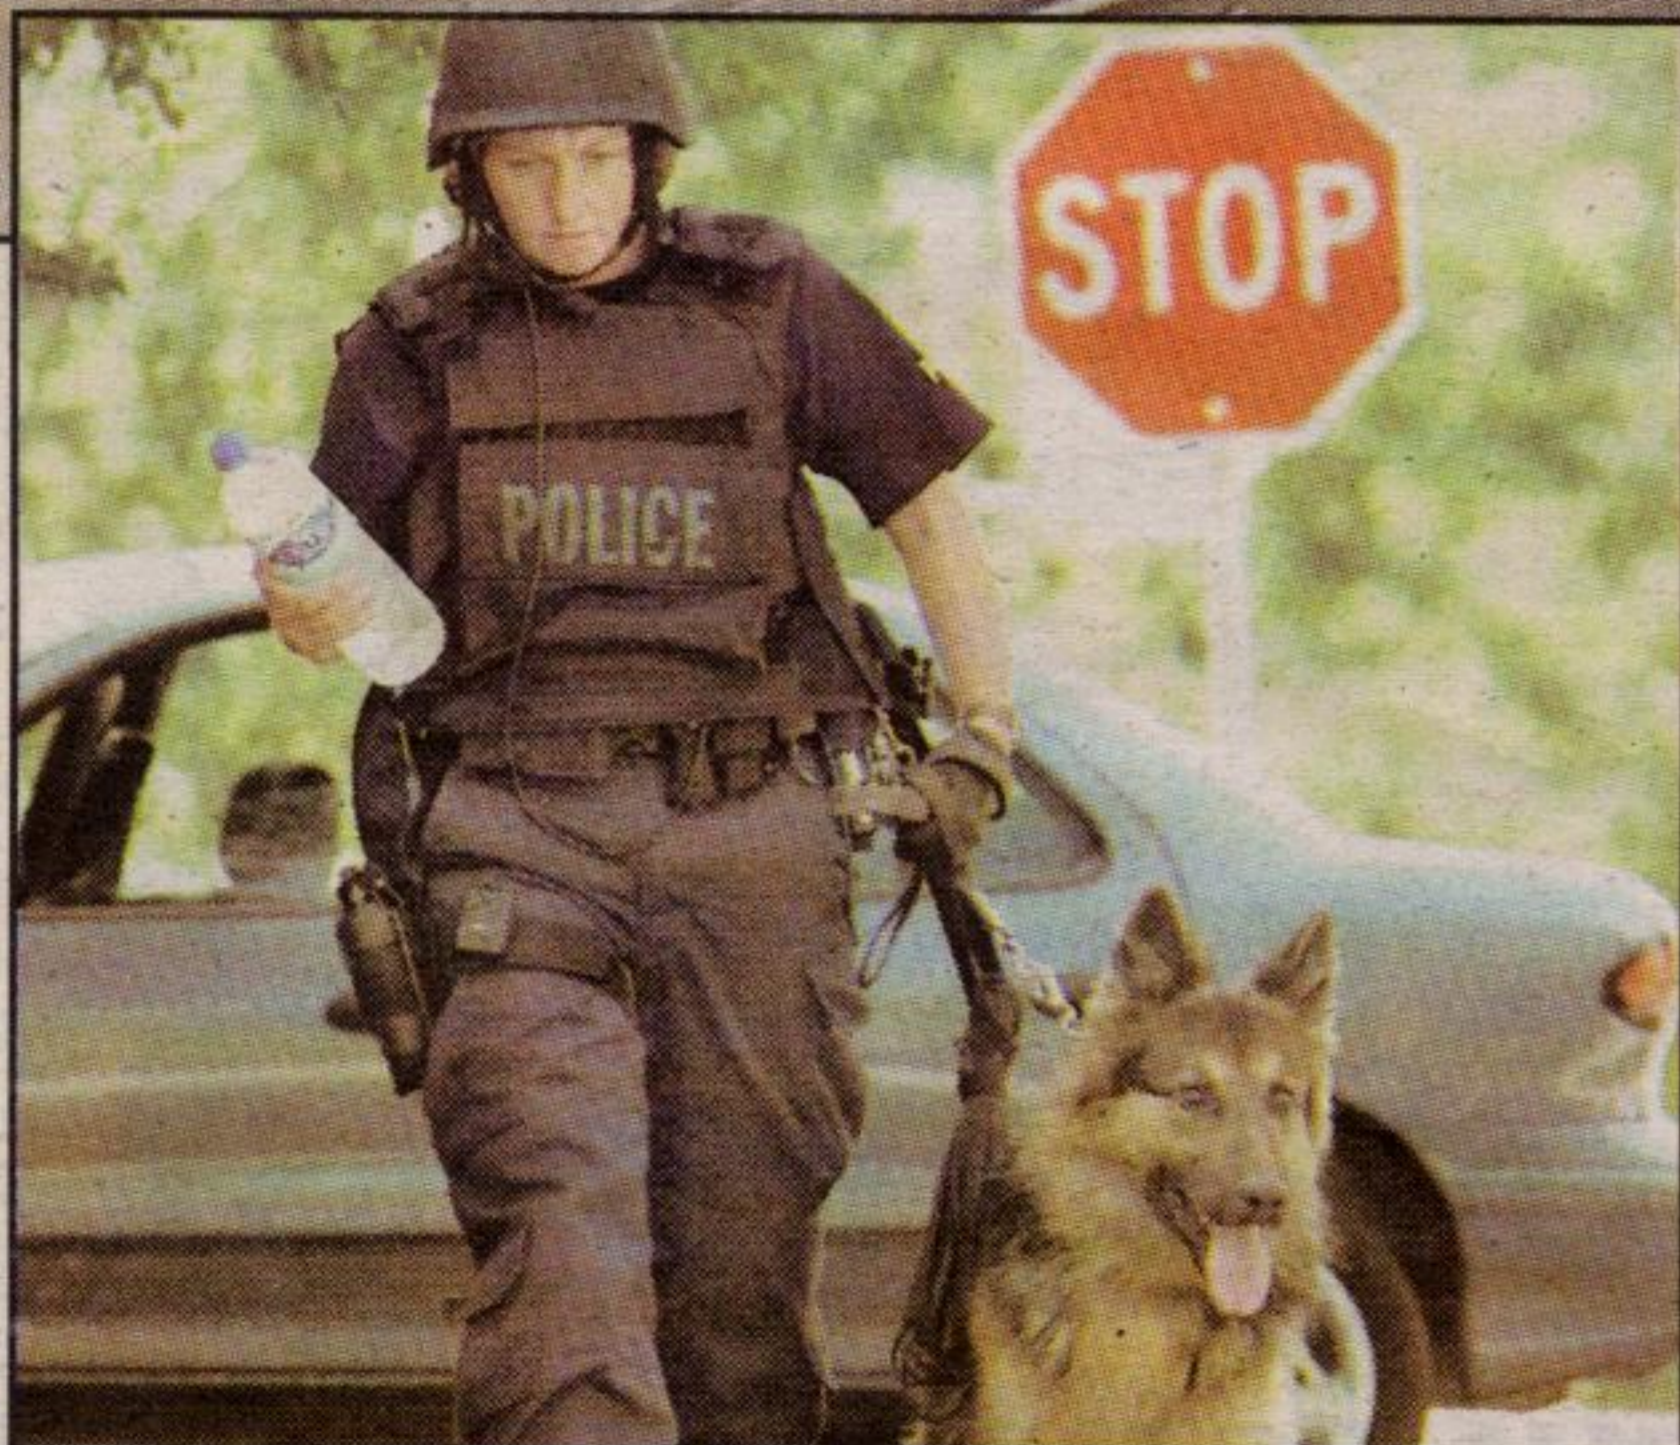

Here in Halton Hills we are lucky to have both an excellent fire department and police service.

The Halton Regional Police Service is responsible for serving the Town of Halton Hills and operates a station house at 217 Guelph St. in Georgetown. A village constable's office is located on Mill St. E. in Acton.

The Halton Hills Fire Department, a volunteer operation, has two stations— District One at Churchill Rd. and Hwy. 7 and District Two on Maple Ave.

Together, the two services work to keep our community safe. From providing emergency assistance, to operating a wide variety of safety programs, the Halton Regional Police Service and Halton Hills Fire Department have many dedicated and hard-working employees whose main job is to ensure Halton Hills remains a safe place to live and work.

Look inside this special section for information on crime and fire prevention and help our community be safe.
