Farm tour a moooving experience

Halton Regional Chair Joyce Savoline found one resident at Jeff Nurse's dairy farm was into sucking up as she took time out to make friends with a young Holstein heifer. Nurse recently hosted the annual Halton Region Halton Agricultural Advisory Committee (HAAC) farm tour at his Trafalgar Road farm. The tour allowed region employees and politicians the opportunity to learn more about the challenges faced by local Halton farmers as they make their living.

Firefighters put their best boot forward

Local firefighters hope to fill their boots with cash in a fund-raising event this week to aid the families of New York firefighters killed during the September 11 terrorist attacks on the World Trade Centre.

Saturday (October 20), Georgetown firefighters will take to the streets and parking lots of Georgetown in a "boot drive" to raise funds for families of victims of the terrorist attacks in New York City. More than 200 firefighters and rescue workers were killed when the World Trade Centre twin towers collapsed.

"Right from the morning of September 11, our firefighters have wanted to lend a hand to our neighbours to the south," said Halton

Hills Fire Department Acting Captain Scott Kozar, who is organizing the fund-raising effort.

"The sheer magnitude of the tragedy is beyond anything that the fire service has ever endured. As firefighters, we share a bond with the firefighters of New York that transcends the borders of our countries. This is a way our members, and our community can send a tangible message to our neighbours that Canadians do care."

Firefighters will be seeking donations by holding out their boots outside local businesses and shopping malls. All funds collected will be sent to The New York Firefighters 9-11 Disaster Relief Fund.
