Man pulls knife on trick-or-treater

Halton Police are looking for a man after someone pulled a knife and attempted to steal candy from a 17-year-old Georgetown youth who was trick-or-treating in the Delrex Blvd. and Weber Dr. area Wednesday.

Police say the incident occurred about 9 p.m. and that the youth was able to keep the candies and fight off the man, who fled in a car.

Police were called and checked the area, but couldn't find the man, who is described as white, 5'6", slim with short brown hair. He was wearing a black jacket and an older-style black goalie mask.

The possible colour of the car he left in was green.

Police report except for the incident in Georgetown it was pretty quiet in Halton Hills on Halloween. Extra officers were working in both Acton and Georgetown.

About 9:45 p.m. Tuesday a young girl standing on the porch of a Victoria Ave., Acton home was hit in the face by an egg thrown by a group of youths. Her nose was bloodied, but she didn't require medical treatment.
