Early Years Literacy Specialist

Early Years

Three Ontario Early Years Centres are being established through a community consultation process in Halton. Part of this initiative includes the Early Years Literacy Specialist. The Early Years Study that was commissioned by the Government of Ontario in the Spring of 1998, determined that Literacy is critical to a child's life-long health, behaviour and learning.

Our organization is seeking to hire a Literacy Specialist to implement Early Years Literacy agenda. The position of Specialist will become part of the Ontario Early Years Centres in Halton when they are established.

Working primarily with groups and organizations in the community to support and promote early language and literacy among children from birth to age six and their families, the Early Years Literacy Specialist will be designing and delivering literacy training and outreach to early years practitioners, children and families.

The Early Years Specialist will have a post-secondary education in a related field such early childhood or primary education, library sciences or child development, a minimum of five years' experience working with children and families, together with experience in adult education and demonstrated communication skills. The successful applicant will be required to travel within the community and have competency in word processing.

Please submit an application with a resume and the names of three references by November 26, 2001 to:
