Raiders tumble into sixth place

It's not often veterans find themselves looking up to a rookie. But with the Georgetown Raiders' Nik Bibic, his linemates have little choice.

At 6-foot-3, Bibic towers six inches above fourth-year Raider Scott MacDonald and nine inches above second-year centre Ryan Busby. A 13th round pick of the Brampton Battalion in the 2000 draft, Bibic has been a good complement to his linemates, digging pucks out of the corner and creating a little more room for his smaller teammates to use their speed.

"I've been on and off but I feel if I work as hard as I can every shift I can help out," is Bibic's modest assessment of his season. That description actually better suits the Raiders as a whole as they fell to 11-14-3 and sixth place in the Provincial Jr. A Hockey League's West Conference with Saturday's 7-5 loss to Oakville.

Bibic, who has been a steady contributor, had a goal and an assist, giving the rookie seven goals and 26 points in 27 games.

NIC BIBIC

The Raiders may have a chance to improve upon their record. After Friday's game in Bramalea, the Raiders play five of seven games against the conference's bottom three teams.

"The league is so tight from third down that if you put together a streak you can move up pretty quickly," said Raider coach Mike Kalapaca.

Despite an easier schedule than the Raiders have faced over the past two weeks, Bibic said the team can't take anything for granted.

"We've got to treat each team, even the last-place team, like they're a first-place team," the Windsor native said. "You can't cut them any slack. You do that and you lose your concentration."

RAIDER RAP: Scott MacDonald scored his 100th goal as a Raider Saturday. Busby, Ryan Ellis and Mason Drew also scored while Bill Fetherston had two assists....The Raiders host Streetsville Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Alcott Arena.

Rebels post 1-4 record at OFSAA championship

Throughout the season, the Georgetown District High School Rebels practised a drill called Guts.

At this weekend's Ontario Federation of Schools Athletic Association (OFSAA) senior boys' volleyball championships, they showed what they had learned from it.

After losing starting setter Chris Campbell to an ankle injury 10 points into the tournament, Reid Hall, a Grade 9 student, was forced into Campbell's spot to run a completely different offence than what the team had practised. However, the Rebels continued to push opponents to the brink and players such as Kyle Hall, considered by many observers to be among the best players in the tournament, rose to the occasion.

In a rematch of last year's OFSAA final, the Rebels fell 24-26, 25-20, 15-13 to Barrie's Eastview Collegiate. It would be replayed throughout the tournament, in which the Rebels posted a 1-4 record. Three of the Rebels' four losses went to three games—twice the margin in the deciding game being two points. The only matches that didn't go the distance were a 26-

24, 31-29 loss to Sir Winston Churchill and the Rebels' 25-11, 25-20 win over Sir John A. Macdonald.

"What they managed to do, with everything against," said Rebel coach Jonas Kaciulis, "it was so gritty, so gutsy and they showed such great sportsmanship."

Even Campbell, who it was later discovered had pulled ligaments in his ankle, fought back to play in a limited role and made some key digs.

"For him to do that, it really set the tone for the team," the Rebel coach said. "They grew up as people. They committed to playing volleyball in the Rebel tradition of never giving up."

Kaciulis said he has received two e-mails from opposing coaches since the tournament and was complimented by several coaches and referees at the tournament on the team's performance under adverse conditions.

Other members of the Rebels OFSAA team are Graeme Leverette, Scott Allison, Chris Cavasin, Steve Leou, Ryan Humberstone and Brad Fisher.

Oshawa's Anderson Collegiate, the number one seed entering the tournament, defeated Grand River in the championship.
