

The park that volunteers built

The Remembrance Park Millennium Project Steering Committee organized in 1998 with the goal to refurbish the park as a tribute to those who served in the armed forces. In 2000, after extensive design, promotion, fund-raising and construction, the park re-opened. Its fountains, seating, gardens and refurbished cenotaph have made it an attractive addition to Halton Hills. The volunteers of the committee are responsible for securing almost 70 per cent of the total value of the completed project plus contributing the countless hours of personal time committed to the project. Halton Hills mayor Kathy Gastle recently accepted a Donor Recognition Book from committee members. The book lists the donors and all those who took part with the project, including photos and art work. It will be on display at the Civic Centre. On hand for the presentation with Mayor Gastle were (from left) Councillor John Day, and Remembrance Park volunteers Julia Stuart, Martin Boomsma and Crystal Thorogood.

Words to live by

To help you celebrate the value of volunteering this National Volunteer Week, here is a selection of meaningful quotations:

No act of kindness, no matter how small, is ever wasted.

—Aesop

Forget yourself for others, and others will never forget you.

—author unknown

You give but little when you give of your possessions. It is when you give of your yourself that you truly give.

—Kahlil Gibran

You make a living by what you get. You make a life by what you give.

—Winston Churchill

The best way to find yourself, is to lose yourself in the service of others.

—Ghandi

Thank you for being a volunteer!

The Halton Regional Police Service has long been supported through the efforts of many citizens, who have donated their time volunteering for the Police Service. The Service would like to recognize and thank the members of the Victim Services Unit, Police Auxiliary, Citizens on Phone Patrol, Acton Store Front, Neighborhood Watch and the Community Consultation Committee, and other individuals who volunteer their time. The dedication and work performed by these people certainly enhance the services provided to the community by the Halton Regional Police.

THE RECREATION AND PARKS DEPARTMENT THANKS VOLUNTEERS
