Cranes to take flight

Grade 4 Immersion students at George Kennedy School have been busy since last fall folding 1,000 origami paper cranes to be sent to the Peace Park in Hiroshima, Japan. The cranes will be placed at a monument in memory of Sadako Sasaki, who died at age 12 from the after-effects of the bombing of the city in the Second World War. The students learned of the monument and Sasaki's efforts to fold 1,000 paper cranes for good luck, before her death in 1955. The cranes have been on display at the school and are being sent today to Japan. Among those students taking part were (from left) Lauren Lanneval, Bradley Ellis, Lauren Porter and Ian McCrae. NOT TO SOUND LIKE AN INFOMERCIAL,
BUT WE'RE OFFERING YOU
NOT ONE,
NOT TWO, NOT FOUR,
BUT SIX NEW
MIDDAY TRAINS
PLUS A BONUS EARLY MORNING TRAIN.

As of Monday, April 29th, you'll have a lot more options when it comes to travelling between Bramalea and Union Station on the Georgetown line. Because we're adding six new midday trains and one new early morning train, each making all the stops in between. To find out how our schedule has been improved, check our website, or just give us a call.
