Train derailment leaves a huge mess

Canadian National (CN) workers brought out the heavy equipment Saturday morning to clear the rail line near Armstrong Avenue after a 56-car train derailed around 11 p.m. Friday night. A conductor and engineer, the only people on board, managed to escape injury. The train was eastbound from Battle Creek, Michigan en route to Concord, Ontario. See story page 4.

Police seek public's help in locating killer

Local man found stabbed to death

Halton Police are seeking leads from the public about Paavo (Paul) Henttonen, the Georgetown man who was found stabbed to death in his Rosetta St. apartment Friday morning.

Homicide investigators also want to know what the man was doing prior to his death, and who may have been driving his 1997 green Chevrolet pickup truck (371 5KW plate number) Thursday or Friday, that was found abandoned at Mountainview Rd. and Dominion Gardens Dr. Sunday morning.

Henttonen, 54, of Rosetta St. was found in his apartment in the warehouse where he ran his scrap metal and pop machine repair business by an employee Friday morning.
