Candlelight march set for Thursday

Hundreds of students carrying lit candles are expected to take part in Halton Hills Candlelight Tributes tomorrow (Thursday) to honour veterans who fought for peace and freedom.

The candles will be placed around the cenotaphs in both Acton and Georgetown where they will burn throughout the night.

The candlelight tributes are being hosted by both the Acton (Branch 197) and Georgetown (Branch 120) of the Royal Canadian Legions. May 8 was chosen because it is VE (Victory in Europe) Day.

In Georgetown, between noon and 12:30 p.m. students from each Georgetown school, an estimated 500 of them, will gather at Georgetown Fairgrounds with lit candles then proceed to Charles and James streets before entering Remembrance Park. At the park they will meet with veterans, thank them, then place the candles around the cenotaph.

That evening there will also be a silent walk at 7 p.m. from Cedarvale Park along Main St. to James St. to the cenotaph for families who wish to participate, culminating with the placing of lit candles followed by a reception.

Students and the public who want to take part in the silent walk in Acton will gather at the olde Hide House and St. Alban's Church parking lots at 6:30 p.m. From the Hide House the walk will proceed along Church St. to Elgin St. to Mill St. to the cenotaph where candles will be placed with veterans. Those leaving from St. Alban's will go along River St. to Bower Ave. to Frederick St. to the cenotaph on Mill St.

Candles will be available for $5.
