They're the people you hope you never have to call. When help is needed, they are the first to arrive. In the most difficult situations, they are the people we call upon to be at their best. Whether it is as major as a car accident or a house fire or as minor as directing traffic when the lights go out. Police officers and paramedics put themselves at risk every day. Thank your sponsors in showing your appreciation for their service.

Enjoy the party. If you have been drinking, have a designated driver take you home.
