Interior decorator opens showroom

Decorating and dressing windows in nothing new for Margena Phillips. It shouldn't be, since she's been doing it for 13 years.

Originally working out of her home, Interior By Margena Inc. has now opened a showroom in Georgetown, at 360 Guelph Street, Unit 39, next to ReMax.

Although the main focus of the Interior By Margena is window treatments, with blinds, shutters and custom draperies, Phillips says her company also offers a full line of interior decorating services, including complete interior design, which includes murals, custom upholstery, and specialty paint finishes.

As a certified interior decorator, Phillips prefers to visit her clients in their home, but says some do bring their own measurements in to the showroom to have her look at them and advise.

"I feel it's best to 'shop at home' in this business," says Phillips, "That way, the client can see the material samples and the paint colours in their own environment at home, not the colour they may see in the store or showroom. The light sources are often are very different, so the fabrics can look quite different when viewed in the two locations."

In addition to Phillips, Interior By Margena has two employees who work in sales and installations. Phillips guarantees her work to meet the client's satisfaction, and says her rates are quite reasonable.

"I feel my clients are the yardstick of my success," says Phillips, "If they are satisfied, then I've done a good job."
