

Sand donated

For the second year in a row, the Town of Halton Hills has received a donation of clean sand from GWL Realty Advisors, after the Mississauga-based company used it for an annual beach volleyball tournament at Sussex Place in Mississauga. Since the company has no use for the sand after it's finished, it was usually disposed of until local businessman Tom Kilmer told GWL Realty Advisors' Ken MacDonald that Halton Hills could probably use it for the recreation facilities. As a result, GWL Realty Advisors have donated more than 220 tonnes which has been used in playgrounds and the beach volleyball court at Georgetown District High School. On hand to present the sand were (from left) GWL operations manager Ken MacDonald, Halton Hills Mayor Kathy Gastle, Tom Kilmer of Kilmer Environmental, Domenic Gurreri of Forest Contractors (for donating delivery of the sand) and GWL Tenant Service Co-ordinator Mary-Carole Piette and Director of Property Management Angie Ieraci.

Vehicle stolen in Georgetown Two teenagers facing variety of charges

Two teens were arrested in Mississauga inside a pickup truck stolen from a Georgetown parking lot recently.

Officers with Peel's Street Crime Unit and 12 Division detectives surrounded the Ford F150 truck as it sat in the parking lot of a plaza on the northeast corner of Tomken Road and Rathburn Road Friday night (Sept. 5). It was 9:15 p.m. and a check of the truck's licence plate revealed it had been stolen from the underground parking garage at 62 Park Ave. the night before, according to police.

Inside the truck police found vice grips, screwdrivers and other tools they said can be used to break into buildings.

Thomas Nicholson, 18, and Andrew Lamore, 18, both of no fixed address, have been charged with possession of stolen property, possession of break and enter tools and breach of probation.

Lamore, who was to report to a local jail that night, has also been charged with breach of recognizance and being unlawfully at large, according to Peel police.

Eleven recruits join ranks of Halton Police

Eleven new officers joined the ranks of the Halton Regional Police Service—three to be stationed in Halton Hills—at a swearing-in ceremony at Halton Region council chambers last week.

The three new constables who have been assigned to 1 District in Georgetown are Tara Vivian, David McInnis and Moreen Smith.

Vivian is a native of Espanola who joined the Canadian Armed Forces after high school and earned several awards during four years of service. She joined the Greater Sudbury Police Service in 1998 where she worked primarily in uniform and six months in the street crime division. She is also a coach officer. Vivian volunteers with the Special Olympics and is a youth mentor.

McInnis was born in Toronto and continued his post-secondary education at Seneca College, receiving a diploma in law enforcement. He worked as a correctional officer for 17 years and was on the Ministry Tactical Response Team for 11 years. He was a use of force instructor and resigned at the rank of Lieutenant Operation Manager to join Halton Police.

In 1999 he received a Ministers Award for Exceptional Bravery and is also the recipient of several Ontario correctional fitness awards. He is married with children.

Smith, a Toronto native, joined the Toronto Police Service in 1989 and worked at 54 Division for nine years in various offices, including area foot patrol and the criminal investigation bureau. In 1998 she transferred to the mounted unit, performing her duties on horseback. She has a son and lives with her family in Halton.
