Chamber holds AGM tonight

Halton Hills Chamber of Commerce holds its annual general meeting today (Wednesday) at the Halton Hills Civic Centre.

The meeting starts at 5 p.m. sharp with reports, followed by the election of directors to the 2003 - 2004 board.

This will be followed by a cocktail reception during which the Annual Volunteer Award, in memory of Marg Tanas, will be presented to Ted Fry.

Fry, a past president of the Halton Hills Chamber of Commerce, is currently serving his eighth year on the economic development committee. He served as director from 1985 to 1999 and at the Ontario Chamber of Commerce from 1994 to 1999. He has helped organize the Christmas Cheque program as well as All-Candidates Debates.

Chamber, Mayor meets with visitors

Halton Hills Mayor Kathy Gastle, Halton Hills Chamber of Commerce president Norm Paget and Matthew Rowe (back right) recently welcomed Montego Bay Chamber of Commerce and Industry president Winston Dear and his wife Denise, as they dropped by the Civic Centre for a visit as part of their trip to Canada. The couple have been traveling across Canada, taking in the sights in Ottawa, Calgary and Niagara, since they left their native Jamaica.

Employee marks quarter century service with Zellers

Edie Taylor is celebrating 25 years of service with Zellers Georgetown this year. Taylor started with the local store just six years after it opened in 1974, and says, "having a great sense of humour goes a long way to making work seem like play. I work with a great team, each of us feels like family, a big noisy family, but one you can count on for anything."

Zellers manager Marcel Benoit presented Taylor with a Certificate of Merit and 2,150,000 HBC rewards points.
