Got a scary tale? We'd love to hear it

In a house in the older part of downtown Georgetown a man with short cropped hair named "Frank" befriends a young girl, paying nightly visits to her bedroom.

In the same house late at night the girl's older sister complains of being awakened from a deep sleep by the sound of someone doing laundry. Surprisingly, no family member has been in the laundry room.

The girls' mother calls out to who she believes is her husband one night when she hears the front door close and someone taking off their shoes. But when the woman treads downstairs finds... no one.

Three doors away two girls are babysitting a neighbour's son and daughter. Hearing heavy footsteps descending down the back staircase the girls go to investigate where they find the footsteps continuing...but no one in sight!

A police official and his wife who live a few doors away happily endure their unseen visitor who traverses the stairway nightly.

Does "Frank" have some history with this large house on whose property all of the above-mentioned homes were built? Or is he just a restless spirit?

In addition to these stories there have been tales of spirits haunting homes on Bower St. in Acton and the former Acton Town Hall.

Is it fact or folklore?

If you know of a local legend, UFO sighting or ghost story we'd like to hear your story. We're asking readers to submit their weird and scary tales (250 words or less) and we will publish them in the Wednesday, Oct. 29 edition—just in time for Halloween.

Drop off your stories at our office, 280 Guelph St. Unit 29 (Georgetown Market Place near Zellers) or e-mail them to jmcghie@independentfreepress.com before Wednesday, Oct. 22.
