Local artists open new Glen exhibit

Fall is here and while the green has turned to brown everywhere else, it hasn't stopped artists Carol Ann Michaelson and Lori Levere from showing their new growth in an upcoming art show, Fertile Ground, Nature and Nurture.

Michaelson will feature a new collection of pottery from her new studio featuring motifs celebrating flowers and foliage.

Levere will show her pastels, paintings and cement sculpture celebrating new life and the life force.

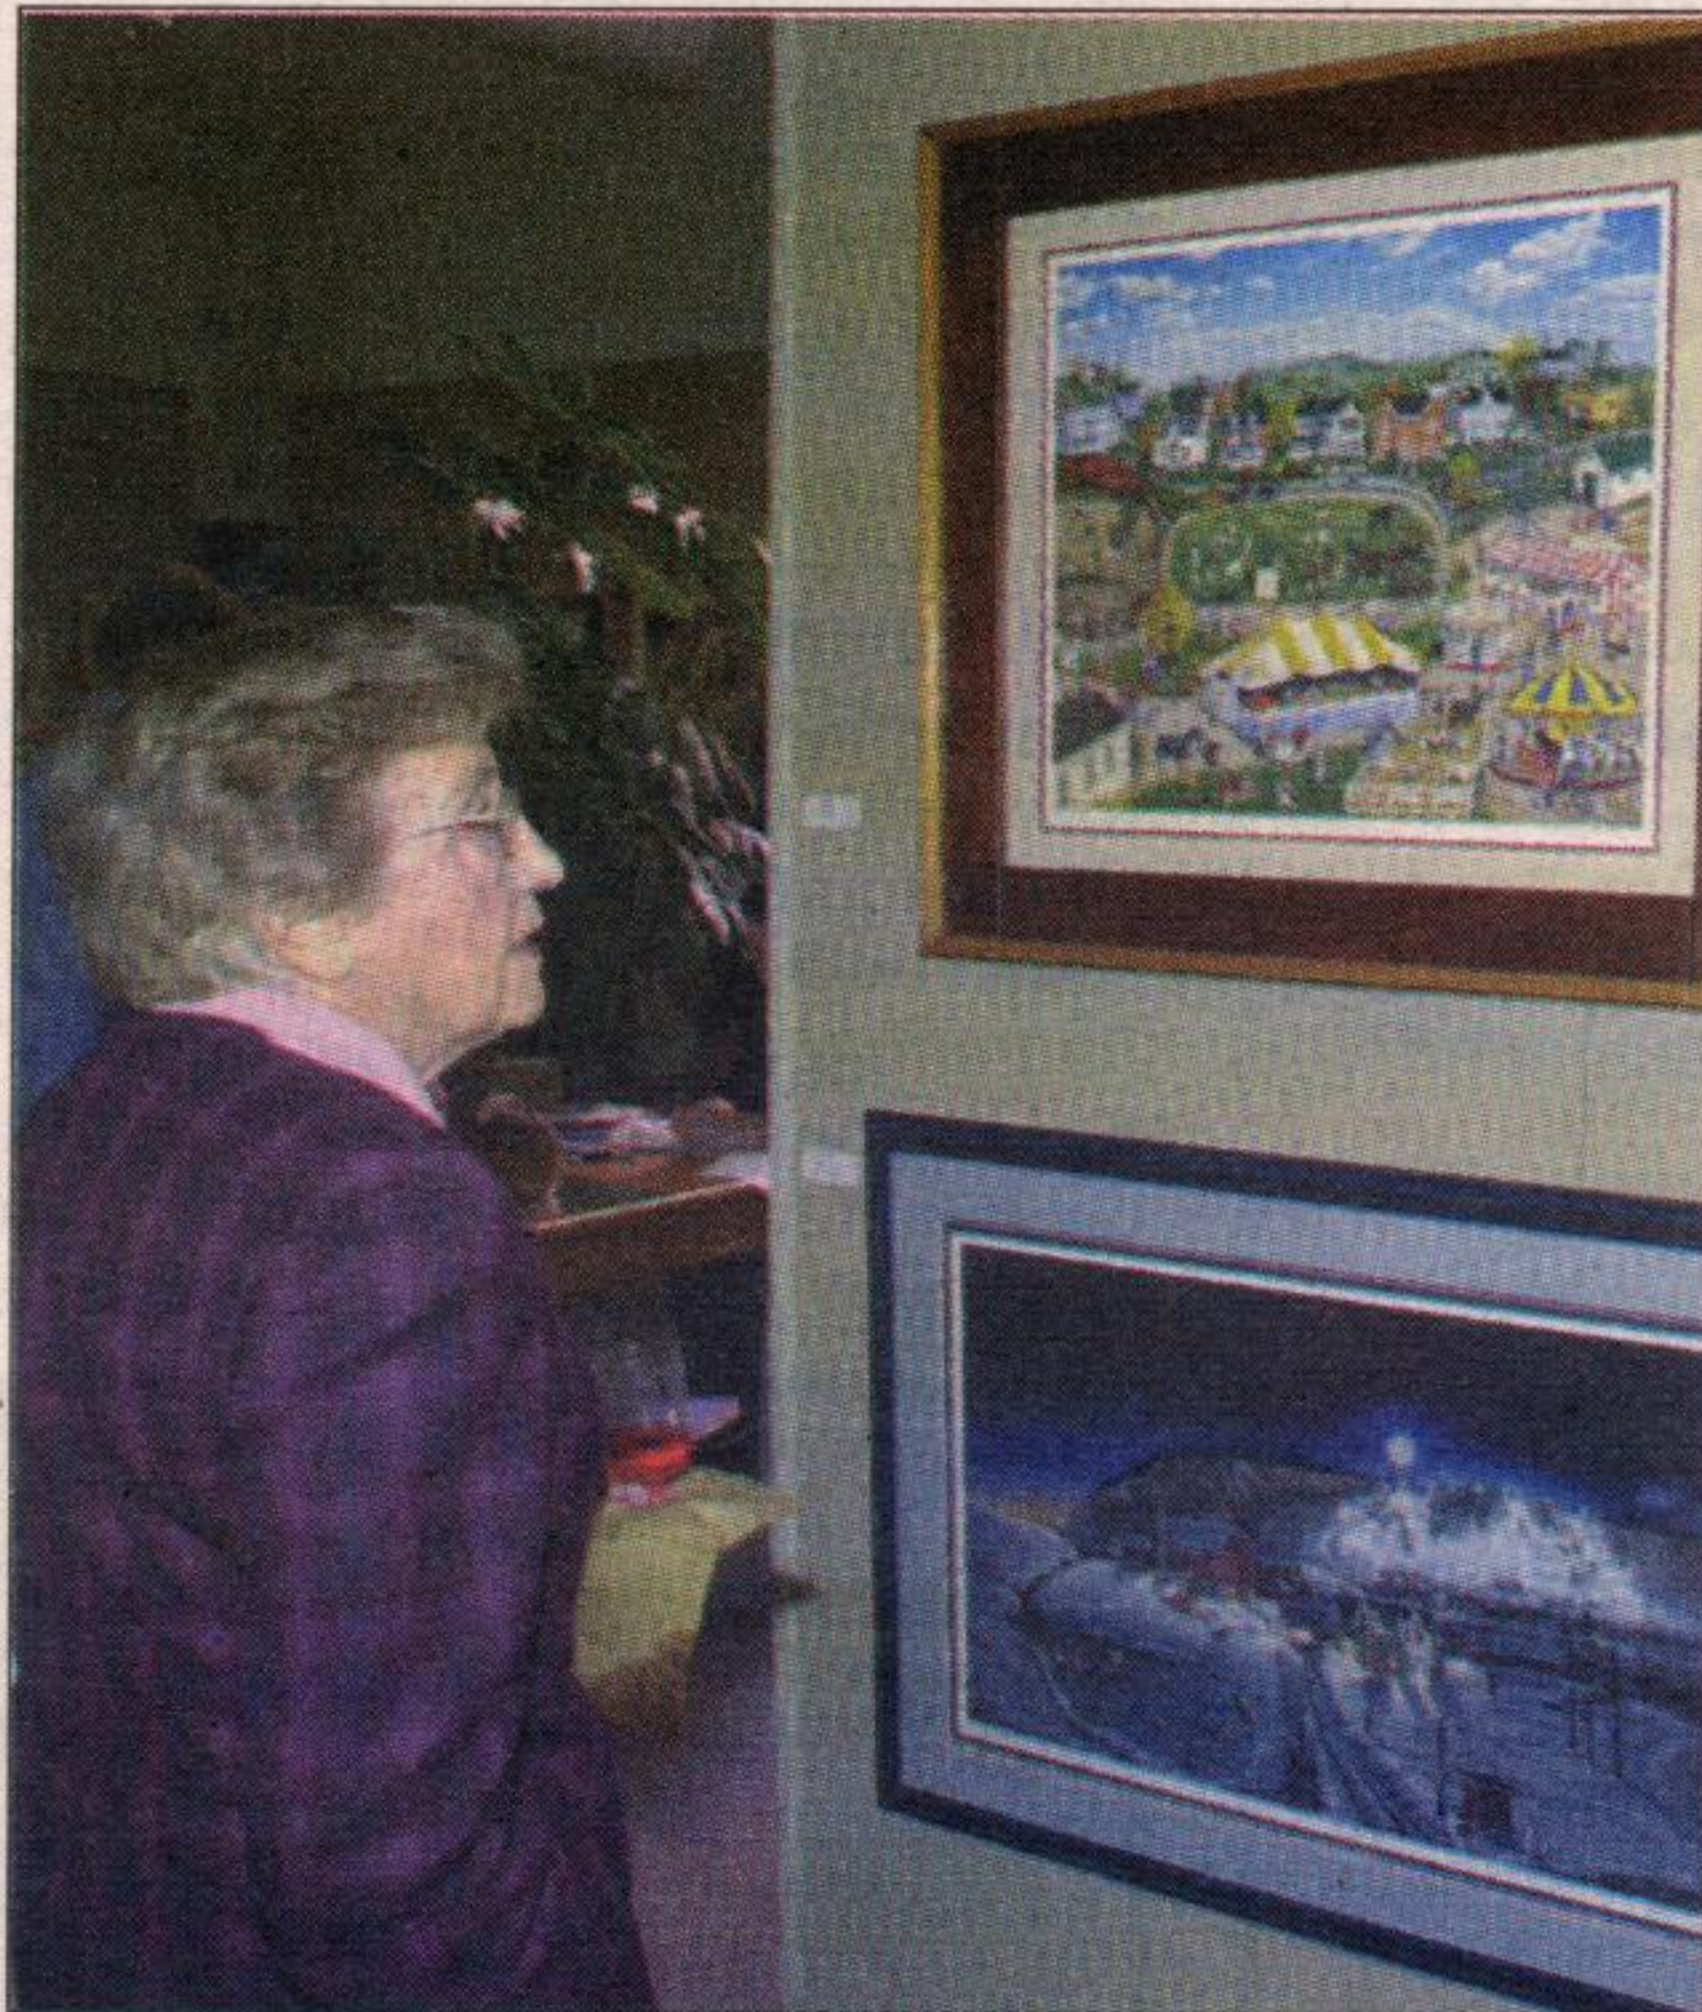

The show will take place at the Glen Williams Town Hall on October 17, 5-9 p.m. and October 18 and 19, noon to 5 p.m.

Artists Among Us

Artists Among Us, a showcase of 39 artists of all talents— painting, pottery, sculpture, bead work opened for the month at the Cultural Centre's Gallery. About 200 people attended on Sunday for the official opening. Above, artist Wendy West of Rockwood poses with one of her bronze sculptures, First Encounter. This piece can be yours for just $15,000. Left, Anne Currie of Georgetown stops by to check out the artwork.
