Mark's Work Wearhouse begins winter coat drive

Mark's Work Wearhouse, Canada's largest specialty retailer of casual unisex apparel, and CHYM FM are partnering for a winter coat drive.

From Monday, Oct. 27 to Sunday, Nov. 16, consumers can stop by Mark's Work Wearhouse, 319 Guelph St., Unit C in Georgetown and drop off gently-used coats (adults and children) in the designated Drop Off Box.

Those who do will receive a $10 gift certificate to use towards a new winter coat from Mark's 2003 collection.

The used coats will be collected by CHYM FM and distributed to the Salvation Army who will supervise distribution to those in need.

"We're known for selling 'clothes that work'," said John Blumenthal, district manager, Mark's Work Wearhouse. "But we're gaining recognition as a retailer that offer charities clothes that work for the community."

Special thanks go out to Canada Waste who donated the recycling bins, he said.

Last year, Mark's received more than 12,000 coats and this year's goal is 15,000.

Mark's, part of the Canadian Tire family, operates 295 stores across Canada.
