Former resident returns to showcase art

Ruth Steinfatt, who lived in Georgetown for over 40 years, returns next week to open a new show and sale, Wildwood Watercolours, in the Gallery of the Halton Hills Cultural Centre, May 10-17.

Steinfatt retired to British Columbia where she pursued her dream of drawing and painting. She reproduces her watercolours into art cards and these have been carried at the Williams Mill for the past year. All the work exhibited in this show will be original pieces.

Steinfatt will be at the Gallery from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. each day to meet with those interested in saying hello and viewing her work. Her work can be previewed on her Web site at: www3.telus.net/steinfatt/gallery.htm

Deja Vu to perform at local pub Saturday

The band, Deja Vu, performs at the George & Dragon tavern in Georgetown on Saturday, May 8 at 9 p.m. Band members are George Orphanos, lead guitar/vocals; Britta Nielsen, guitar/vocals; Larry Metcalfe, bass guitar; Sonja Nielsen, vocals/percussion; Ina Nielsen, vocals and Rodney Defreitas, drums. The group plays classic rock such as Steve Miller, Fleetwood Mac, The Doobie Brothers, CSNY, Journey and the Rolling Stones.
