Halton stars capture third at tourney

The Halton All-Stars, helped by three Georgetown Rebels and coached by the Rebels Steve Pettit, took third place at the Star Wars Basketball Classic.

Halton topped Durham 82-72 in the bronze medal game at the tournament of regional all-star teams at Humber College.

Halton opened the tournament against the eventual silver-medalist, Toronto. Trailing by four points with a minute to play, two three-point attempts rattled off the rim and Toronto capitalized on late free throws to win 85-75.

Georgetown's Ted Morris had a double-double with 12 points and 11 rebounds.

Halton took an early lead against York but with the advantage narrowed to three points, Morris hit three straight three-pointers. Halton would maintain a healthy lead throughout the rest of the game and win 85-76.

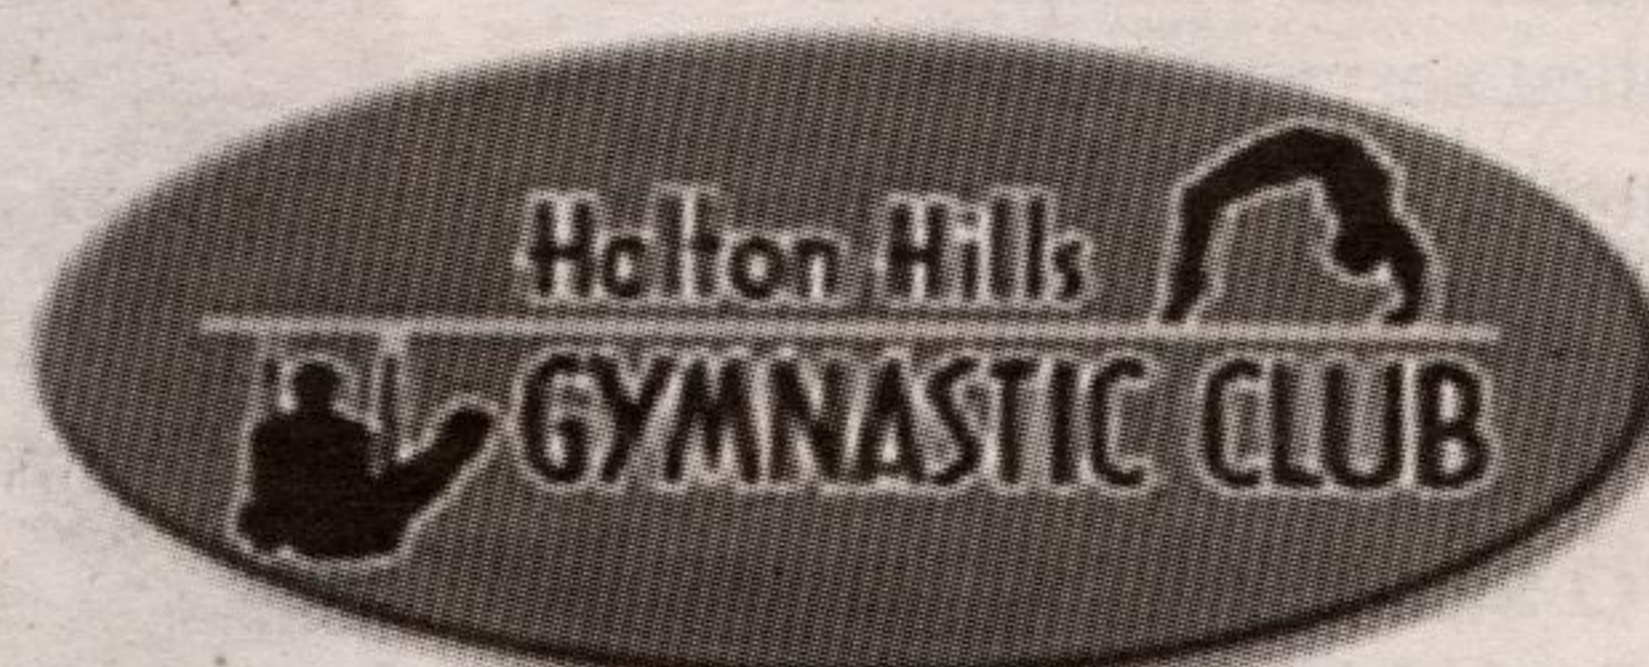

Morris led Halton with 17 points and five steals, Robitaille had 13 points and nine assists and Pat Beswick had 10 points and seven rebounds.

In the consolation championship, Halton fell behind 23-10 against Durham but cut that lead to three by the half. With strong three-point shooting in the second half, Halton pulled away for an 82-72 victory.

Halton also won the consolation final at the Hamilton Spectator All-Star Classic basketball tournament. Morris had nine points in final quarter to help the Halton down the Brant All-Stars 82-72 in the consolation final.

Brant led 38-34 at the half but Halton outscored Brant 16-9 in the first five minutes of the half and never looked back. Georgetown's Andrew Robitaille also hit double figures with 10 points.

Halton lost its opening game to the Hamilton Public All-Stars 91-70. Halton took an early 21-11 lead but Hamilton closed the gap to two at the half, 40-38. Hamilton came out strong in the second half and with two minutes to play, led 80-70. Pat Beswick, the third Rebel player on the all-star team, had nine points and five rebounds.
