

Norval man gets life for running down wife

She went to a nearby house where she called the police. Snow was charged with assaulting his wife and threatening her life. He was released on recognizance under condition that he stay away from her.

According to the statement of facts, Snow was upset his wife left him and he tried to commit suicide several times.

Shirley Snow went to live at Family Transition Place in Orangeville for a brief time and was reluctant to tell her children where she was staying.

Snow got his wife's cell phone number from one of his children and called her several times—but she would not speak to him. After a few calls, she called the police and her husband was brought back to court for violating the conditions of his bail.

The next day, he admitted himself into Homewood—a rehabilitation facility—but signed out the next day.

A few days later, on May 5, Snow found out his wife would be meeting their son in the Wal-Mart parking lot to drop off their grandchildren.

After drinking all morning, he went to Orangeville. He saw his wife in the parking lot by her van where he confronted her and blocked her from getting away.

According to witnesses, Shirley screamed and Snow told her to "shut up." She got into the van to escape, but Snow followed her, pushing her into the passenger seat where he punched her. Witnesses honked their car horns, trying to get Snow to stop hitting his wife.

He started to drive the vehicle and his wife jumped out, running towards the entrance of Wal-Mart.

Snow drove after her—running over two medians and blowing one of the tires—as witnesses called out to her to run faster. She was struck by the vehicle and dragged for several metres. She succumbed to her injuries later that day in hospital.

Snow fled the scene, stopping at an Amaranth home where he threatened two young girls with a wrench and demanded the family's car.

He drove to the Timmins area where he checked into a motel and took several sleeping pills before calling one of his children. He asked about his wife and when told she was dead, apologized and said he wanted to be with her. Police traced the call and made the arrest.

Durno said Snow "was far from an ideal husband."

However, he believes he did love his wife and should be credited for trying to change—he quit drinking for over a decade and tried to get medical help. He also credited Snow with showing remorse for his crime and pleading guilty to second-degree murder, which means the family were spared the trauma of a trial.

"He pleaded guilty to a charge where there is no guarantee that he will ever be released from prison," Durno said. But he added that Snow ignored a court ruling that forbid him from seeing his wife.

"He decided that his own intentions, of getting back together with his wife, were more important than court orders."

He also said when Snow killed his wife he was in a rage and had no consideration for the people—children and others—who were in the parking lot.

"Those people will be second-guessing what they could have done for the rest of their lives," he said.

WARD 4 / Part of Lots 11 & 12, Concession 9 - Georgetown (Draft Plan 24T-97011/H) (North of 10 Side Road, between Main Street & Mountainview Road) Proposed Zoning Amendment - to exclude 'Porches' from the lot coverage calculation

Town Council for the Town of Halton Hills will conduct a Public Meeting to examine and discuss proposed amendments to the Zoning By-Law 57-91, as amended. The application relates to the Draft Approved residential subdivision located north of 10 Side Road, between Main Street & Mountainview Road and known as file 24T-97011/H (The Fernbrook Subdivision) on part of Lots 11 & 12, Concession 9. The property is currently vacant.

The proposed Zoning By-Law Amendment would affect the following zones:

- (H) R2-1 (Second Density Residential Special Zone - Holding)
- (H) R4-1 (Fourth Density Residential Special Zone - Holding)
- (H) R4-2 (Fourth Density Residential Special Zone - Holding)
- (H) R4-3 (Fourth Density Residential Special Zone - Holding)
- (H) R5-1 (Fifth Density Residential Special Zone - Holding)
- (H) R5-2 (Fifth Density Residential Special Zone - Holding)
- (H) R6-1 (Sixth Density Residential Special Zone - Holding)

The proposed Zoning By-Law Amendment would remove the porch area from the overall lot coverage calculation (effectively increasing the actual "house" coverage, as the 'previous porch' could be replaced with additional house).

If you wish to be notified of the adoption of the proposed Zoning By-Law Amendment and/or the decision of the Town of Halton Hills in respect of this application, you must make a written request to the Town of Halton Hills at 1 Halton Hills Drive, Georgetown, Ontario L7G 5G2.

If a person or public body that files a notice of appeal of a decision of the Town of Halton Hills in respect of the proposed Zoning By-Law Amendment does not make oral submissions at a public meeting or make written submissions to the Town of Halton Hills before the proposed Zoning By-Law Amendment is adopted, the Ontario Municipal Board may dismiss all or part of the appeal.
