GLT plans One-Act Festival

Georgetown Little Theatre will be presenting its fourth One-Act Play Festival September 16-18 at John Elliott Theatre featuring five plays.

To Fly, directed by Cat Heaven, will be performed by the youngest of the members.

J.Q. Smith directs No Means No, a play that deals with date rape, a topic of importance to teens and features members of the newly-formed Youth Group of GLT.

Doug Feggans directs Pieces as his first production for GLT. Feggans describes this play as "a very well-written realistic drama concerning a father and son."

Skytree Smith makes her directing debut with The Ugly Duckling, a fairy tale which features a princess who is viewed as being unattractive after having a spell cast on her.

Hope Hanson joins GLT directing Sure Thing. Everyone has wished for another chance to make that all-important first impression, and the couple in this play has that chance.

Visit GLT's Web site at www.georgetownlittletheatre.ca for details, and call the box office at 905-877-3700 for tickets.

Prince Simon (Matthew Coles) is a little cautious of the attention that Princess Camilla (Janelle Bartosek) is lavishing on him in Georgetown Little Theatre's Ugly Duckling, which is part of the One-Act Play Festival opening in September. Photo by Ted Brown
