Barry Hall returns to JET for two concerts

As a performer in his early twenties and long before the wave of tribute acts poured into the entertainment marketplace, Barry Hall traveled North America performing his unique tribute to legendary artists Ray Charles, Johnny Cash, Tom Jones and Elvis to sold out concerts.

Now, with a greatly expanded repertoire of vocal impressions, Hall returns to the John Elliott Theatre stage to present audiences with the best of music and comedy from over five decades of entertainment.

Barry Hall and An Evening With The Stars will be here for two concerts, Sept. 24 and 25.

It's a time travel tour where Hall will take his audience on a journey from the early 1950s right into the new millennium with his vocal impressions of favourite legendary and contemporary performers. From early legends like Al Jolson, Nat King Cole, Louis Armstrong and Johnny Mathis to the early days of rock'n roll with artists including Fats Domino,

Hall touches on the evolution of country music featuring stars from the early years like Johnny Cash, Marty Robbins and George Jones to New Country favourites Kenny Rogers, Randy Travis and Garth Brooks, and then moves on to contemporary pop artists that include Hootie and the Blowfish, Macy Gray, Shaggy and many more.

The fun continues when Hall takes the audience on a visit to Hollywood to find film stars like Al Pacino and Jack Nicholson joining in
