Committee trying to augment current service Town puts up cash for train study

The Town of Halton Hills will contribute $4,500 to the North Main Line Rail Alliance Committee for a passenger train service study. Council approved the allocation at a recent council meeting.

Mayor Rick Bonnette and Town Economic Development Officer Allan O'Neill sit on the committee comprised of mayors and economic development officers from municipalities bisected by the VIA train corridor, from London to Georgetown.

The committee's initial purpose was to study the possibility of obtaining a high-speed train service along this route, but is now just trying to augment the current service. Each of the municipalities will contribute cash, based on population, to hire a consultant (for $40,000) to look at the needed infrastructure improvements and likely passenger increase that could result with improved service levels.

O'Neill said with this information, it is more likely that federal/provincial funding could be spent to upgrade the CN North Main Line.

Bonnette agreed, saying if the town does not participate at this level (study) then it could see any future train improvement bypass the town.

Guide to the Outdoors

Julie Pomeroy

The fall hiking season is in full swing and the weather has been beautiful! Several weeks ago, Kevin Moore wrote about wearing Smart Wool hiking socks to keep your feet comfortable and reduce the chance of blisters when you hike by wicking and absorbing the moisture from your feet. This week Canoe Country is offering a SPECIAL on SMART WOOL SOCKS. Buy 2 pair and get 1 pair FREE. We have a good stock of Bruce Trail Guides in store. Our new Day Tripping checklists have arrived. They look great. Thank you Pauline! I find the lists very helpful to review prior to going out for a day or a weekend to make sure I don't forget anything. Hope you will too! Happy Hiking.
