Humane Society searching for permanent home for rabbit

Lucky for Clover his family surrendered him to the Upper Credit Humane Society.

Clover, a 3 1/2-year-old Dutch rabbit, is truly one sweet, attractive little bunny. Clover was given up by his original family, through no fault of his own, but circumstances were such they were unable to care for Clover anymore.

Clover was awaiting adoption, when during a check up, it was found that he had a mild respiratory disease. This disease it seems is very common among rabbits and is only contagious to other rabbits. Other animals and humans can not catch it. Clover's case is very mild, and many rabbits with respiratory disease can live a long happy life. Clover shows no symptoms, and may never do so, but the fact that we have other rabbits in the shelter, Clover must stay at a foster home.

His foster home mom says he is a delightful rabbit, great with kids and adults, especially those who will pet him while he is laying in your lap. He is very clean and is trained to use a litter-box.

The Upper Credit Humane Society is looking for a home for Clover with a family who is not concerned about his mild respiratory problem. Clover loves to be petted and has a sweet, loving nature. He has proved himself to be easy to care for.

If you are looking for a rabbit for your family where Clover would be the only rabbit, the Upper Credit Humane Society believes you will be pleased with this addition to your family.

If you are interested in Clover, please call soon, as his foster family cannot keep him for much longer as their dogs do not like Clover.

Call the Upper Credit Humane Society at 519-833-2287 (CATS) to learn more about Clover.

Guide to the Outdoors

Julie Pomeroy

The cool Canadian winter weather is on the way. It's a whole lot easier to get used to if you have the proper clothing to keep you warm! Many of us are very loyal to the SmartWool sock line. They're great. We have just received SmartWool's liner gloves and mid weight underwear. Seriously comfortable. The company advertises that their products wick and evaporate moisture better than synthetics keeping you a heck of a lot dryer and the specially selected ultra soft Merino wool naturally controls odour so that you don't stink up the joint when you're done playing outside. Warm and cozy naturally! Check it out.
