

Drumming support for Music Monday

Students at Glen Williams Public School recently participated in Music Monday, a cross-Canada event in which students sang the same song at the same time during the school day. Jesse Harrison, 10, and Jazmine Dalton-Bevaart, 9, provided the musical accompaniment on the xylophone. Music Monday 05 is Canada's first national celebration of music. At the exact same time across the country, students and musics from coast to coast were united by singing or playing the same piece of music, A Little Music, by Chris Tait. The Coalition for Music Education in Canada created Music Monday to celebrate the power of music and to demonstrate how that power is rooted in school music programs. George Kennedy School students also participated by going outside to sing.
