

Police seek suspect in sex assault case

Halton Regional Police are looking for a man who sexually assaulted a woman in the Argyll Rd. area of Georgetown last month.

On Monday police reported that a man approached an 18-year-old woman while she was on the driveway of her home at 10:30 p.m., Friday, September 23. The man touched her in a sexual manner and fled when she yelled at him. Police were notified of the incident several days later.

The man is described as white, in his early 20s, approximately 6 ft.

tall, with short hair. He was wearing blue baggy jeans, a long-sleeved/striped shirt and a dark baseball hat.

Anyone with information is asked to call police at 905-878-5511 ext. 4777 or call CrimeStoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).

Residents asked to be wary of bogus Crime Stoppers group doing fund-raising

Halton Crime Stoppers is issuing a warning to area residents that Crime Stoppers Most Wanted, an organization that has been doing some on-line fund-raising, is not associated with Crime Stoppers International Inc.

Steve Walrath, president of Crime Stoppers International, issued the warning last week.

Investigations have shown Crime Stoppers Most Wanted was set up and is being operated by a couple in Powell, Ohio, a community on the northern outskirts of Columbus.

"There will always be people who attempt to ride the coat tails of legitimate and successful organizations for their own personal gain," said Walrath. "We have warned all Crime Stoppers who are affiliated with Crime Stoppers International about this organization and we are urging the general public not to be fooled.

"We just want to make sure the public is aware that Crime Stoppers International and the Crime Stoppers International Foundation have no affiliation whatsoever with Crime Stoppers Most Wanted and the two individuals who have set up this web based organization," said Walrath.

He said the organization is duplicating things already in place by local Crime Stoppers programs by contacting police departments in North America and encouraging them to post details of unsolved crimes on their website.

Anyone with questions as to whether a business using the name Crime Stoppers is a true Crime Stoppers not-for-profit charitable organization should contact Halton Crime Stoppers at 905-878-5511 ext. 5139.
