

LNH computer course

Do you need to upgrade your skills and learn to use a computer... for a job... for further training... for personal independence... to help your kids with homework? Literacy North Halton's Adult Read*Spell* Write program for adults offers a Basic Computer and Skills Upgrading course starting October 11 and continuing on Tuesdays until December 20, 9:30 a.m. to noon in Georgetown. Limited space call 905-873-2200 to register.

St. John volunteers wanted

St. John Ambulance needs volunteers for its administrative board. The St. John group is a non-profit organization providing first aid services and therapy dog visitations in the north Halton area. The board, which meets once a month, assists with operational administration, public awareness and fund-raising. Info: Earl, 905-877-7658.

Enter Remembrance contest

The Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 120 Youth Education Committee has delivered the Remembrance posters, poems and essay contest kits to all the schools. The date for the return of entries to the Legion, 127 Mill St. in Georgetown is Nov. 16.

Community day in Terra Cotta

Forge Day in Terra Cotta marked the 150th anniversary of the village. The event recently included a cycle road race, barbecue and a dance and fostered a wonderful sense of community spirit. The winning ticket numbers for the 50-50 and the gift table will be posted on-line at www.terra-cotta.ca. Above community organizers, from left, Dave Rutherford, Yvonne Sanchez and Ron Budenas, prepare the items on the draw table.

This is the month to get your new library card

October is a busy time for libraries. There are lots of special events happening this month including Ontario Public Libraries Week, Canadian Children's Book Week, and Library Card Sign-Up Month. One of the events we will be celebrating is Canadian Library Week, which is held from October 17 to 24.

The theme this year is Life-long libraries—discover us and we certainly agree that interaction with your local public library can certainly be a life-long experience. Anybody of any age can have a library card.

Babies, as young as six months old, can participate in children's library programs and enjoy board books, children's CDs, and made-for-babies DVDs. Daycares can make use of our theme boxes in their programming.

As children enter school, the library can take on a new role as a source of homework help, as well as helping develop a life-long habit of recreational reading. Students can also make use of electronic resources such as newspaper and periodical indexes and the Internet.

As adults, users can find information for their small business, discover how to tile a bathroom, or learn about parenting. Budding writers can take advantage of our Writers Wanted program and learn how to publish their work.

People researching their family tree can find a wealth of information from census and property records to newspaper articles and photographs.

People who cannot make in into the library can have the library brought to them through our Library on Wheels service. And through our interlibrary loans services, library users can borrow library materials from across the country.

As a special way to help celebrate Canadian Library Week, every time you visit the Halton Hills Public Library during that week, you can fill in a ballot for a chance to win a gift basket.

For more information on any of our services, Canadian Library Week or any of the special events happening at the branches of the Halton Hills Public Library this month, please contact the Georgetown branch at 905-873-2681, the Acton branch at 519-853-0301, or visit our website at www.library.hhlp.on.ca.
