Sky's the limit for GDHS bands

The Music department at Georgetown District High School has a long and distinguished history with many awards to its credit. The most recent accomplishment by their Senior Jazz Band came this spring when they won gold at the MusicFest Canada national competition in Richmond, B.C. This band is used to being in high demand for local events, but they were thrilled to play at the Halton Learning Foundation's annual gala fund-raising dinner held at the Burlington Convention Centre yesterday (Thursday).

Not only were they one of the featured bands, they played alongside Canadian singer/songwriter Amy Sky. The Halton Learning Foundation raises funds to help provide equipment for the Music, Arts and Technical programs in Halton, so this is a most fitting event for our Jazz Band.

A Junior Concert Band, a Junior Jazz Band and a Wind Ensemble round out our very busy music department: Eleanor Wallace, head of the department, is also in the process of putting together an instrumental/jazz combination band. The emphasis of this ensemble will include the challenging, yet rewarding art of Jazz Improvisation.

The new school year is young, yet two of our ensembles have already provided performances for school events. The Senior Jazz Band gave a solid performance at the Student Excellence Awards Night and the Wind Ensemble (a senior concert band) was honoured to participate in the commencement ceremonies earlier this month.

Upcoming performances for all groups this semester include performances at our three feeder schools. Of course, the big event of the season comes on Saturday, December 17 when we present our annual Christmas Concert. This community event is always a wonderful celebration of festive music, jazz, pop, and exciting music from the band literature.

The GDHS Parent Council meets on the second Tuesday of every month at 7 p.m. in the school library. Guest speakers are regularly featured and are advertised in the Community Calendar. All interested members of the community are more than welcome to attend.
