Turn an apartment into a home with colour

Turning a condo apartment into a real home can be an exciting and satisfying adventure with the right ideas and a little bit of help, according to Helen Mullett, colour commentator for Color Your World.

"Decorating an apartment can be a terrific experience that's manageable in terms of time, ability and budget," says Mullett. "Consider it a time to experiment and discover favourite styles, techniques and colour schemes, without feeling locked into a longtime look."

Mullett offers several ideas to help transform an apartment into a personalized space.

Start with a style

- Start on the right track for a stunning space by imagining the style you'd like to surround yourself with.
- Carry the idea throughout the apartment, varying it slightly from room to room. By maintaining a similar idea, you'll ensure your apartment will "feel" put together and co-ordinated.

Pick a colour scheme

- Choose three or four favourite colours and plan how you can use combinations and different shades of these throughout the apartment.
- For inspiration and ideas for colour combinations, look at everyday items such as clothing, bedding or artwork, for example.

• Try out Colour Your World, a colour visualization CD that enables you to paint your very own room on your computer. Download your own photos and create an ideal mood with the easy-to-use features to "paint" your room in every colour scheme you can imagine or sample colours with ready-to-use photos. Available at Color Your World locations.

Stick to your plan

- Collect favourite magazine pictures, fabric swatches, wood or trim samples and paint chips to create your home portfolio.
- Include a list of items you'd like to get for your place and split it into "must-have" and "love-to-have" sections and then cross off the items as you find the right pieces.
- If you're heading out shopping, take your portfolio with you, or keep easy-to-carry elements, such as paint chips, with you for quick reference if you come across interesting decorating finds.

Connect with the experts

- Visit a Color Your World store and consult with staff to help with selections, decorating ideas and advice on products and techniques.
