

Make wise food choices wherever you go

March 2006 marks the 25th anniversary of the Dietitians of Canada's Nutrition Month campaign. This year's theme, "make wise food choices wherever you go," reinforces the importance of healthy eating whether you're at work, making choices at the grocery store, or dining out.

Nutrition, health and convenience are among the most important factors influencing people's food choices today. However, despite the interest and willingness to make healthy food choices, mixed messages about healthy eating and busy lifestyles brought on by juggling the demands of both work and home can sometimes make healthy eating difficult to do.

As Canadians are now eating out more than ever, it is important to try and incorporate healthy choices into meal selections. Consider the following tips:

- Get to know healthy cooking methods and cooking terms. Look for entrees that are steamed, broiled, braised, poached or grilled and skip sautéed, pan fried or deep-fried items
- Don't hesitate to ask your server questions. Inquire about healthy substitutions or a nutrient breakdown of menu items. Check out the nutrition breakdown of restaurant menu items on-line in advance if possible, and look for healthy choices on the kids' menu too.

- Designer drinks in the coffee shop can add up! Many drinks rival rich desserts in the amount of calories they contain. Large drinks with added syrups and toppings can sometimes total over 500 calories. Choose regular, de-caffeinated coffee, latte or café au lait made with lower-fat milk.

- Pizza Pointers: Make your pizza a healthy one by choosing toppings like roasted vegetables or grilled chicken. Steer away from higher fat toppings such as pepperoni, sausage or bacon. For a healthy change choose a whole grain crust.

- Downsize it: Super-sized portions usually cost only a little extra, but can bring a nutritional blow. Research shows the larger the serving, the more we tend to eat.

If you can't bear to pass on a deal, consider splitting a large portion with someone else. Smaller serving sizes are especially important for young children.

- Watch those "extras": Those little extras like salad dressings, mayo, spreads and gravy can add a lot of fat, sodium and calories to your meal. Choose the following instead:

- Veggies as a tasty garnish for sandwiches
- Lower-fat condiments like ketchup, mustards and relish

HealthNotes

Let common sense prevail—if you are eating out only once or twice a month, your meal plan can probably withstand the splurge! But if you are eating out frequently, use these tips to help you make wise food choices wherever you go.
