Top high school athletes honoured

The three high schools in Halton Hills recently announced their athletes of the year for the 2005-06 sports season and there was a large pool to choose from, with several

Halton—and provincial—level triumphs earned by teams and individuals.

Acton

Georgetown
