

Last chance approaching for library's summer programs

Are the kids getting bored? If so, bring them to a program at your local library!

Halton Hills Public Library is offering several programs for kids this summer. For the preschool set, there's Family Storytime in the Georgetown branch on Fridays until August 25 at 9:45 a.m.

Crafternoons is a drop-in craft program offered Wednesdays until August 16 in the Acton branch, and until August 23 in the Georgetown branch. The crafts take about 15 minutes, and families can drop in anytime between 2-4 p.m. Kids, under age six, need to be accompanied by a grownup.

Book Parties are geared towards kids 6 and up, and are held Thursdays at 2 p.m. in the Georgetown branch until August 24. Registration begins one week before each program.

For kids 8-13, Imagination Stations are on Thursdays at 10 a.m. in the Acton branch until August 17, and on Tuesdays at 2 p.m. in the Georgetown branch until August 22. Registration begins one week before each program.

Finally, the Doug Barr Show is an all ages performance happening on Saturday, August 19 at 10:30 a.m. in the Acton branch and 2 p.m. in the Georgetown branch (in the John Elliott Theatre). Tickets are $2 and on sale now while they last.

Please call 905-873-2681 ext. 2520 or 519-853-0301 or visit www.library.hhpl.on.ca for more information.
