Cousens' career blossoms in B.C.

The Vees remain in top spot in the BCHL's Inter-Coastal Conference and sent notice last week that they're out to avenge their league final loss to eventual Royal Bank Cup champion Burnaby in the spring by taking three out of four points from Coastal Conference leaders Victoria and Nanaimo.

Notching three assists in each of those important weekend contests earned Cousens the BCHL's Star Player of the Week honours, but he'd typically rather talk about team goals.

"That's our motto. Unfinished business," he stated. "We should have had eight points out of eight last week but we gave up a couple of two-goal leads late in games. We're learning from lessons that have happened so we'll be ready for the playoffs and that's why we treat every weekend series in the regular season like it's a playoff series...Personally, I'm just doing a lot of working out right now, concentrating on the hockey part of my life and working on different areas that I can improve on."

Cousens, who plans to enroll in Michigan Tech's business program next fall, said he's anxious to return to the balmy weather of Halton Hills for the Christmas break.
