

Few extras in budget

Ranked by the department heads for the first time, the wish list includes a finance analyst, hearing impaired interpreters, walkway lighting, roads, parks and stormwater pond maintenance and a Fairy Lake geese population control program.

Staff, as requested by the budget committee, also prepared a list of items amounting to 1 per cent reduction ($209,000) that could be sliced from the budget. It includes:

- closure of the washrooms at the Georgetown Fairgrounds and Prospect Park Blockhouse (replaced by portable toilets) ($23,000)
- closure of Dick Licata Pool for the month of August ($10,900)
- reduction in hours for the library's Library-on-Wheels co-ordinator
- Thursday evening closures of the library during the summer. (The library is again requesting Monday openings ($68,000) but that has not been approved by the management staff.)
- reductions in patching gravel roads in winter, summer and spring ($15,000)
- reduction in dust control application on rural roads ($30,000)
- reduction in materials to repair ball diamonds, soccer fields and other areas ($6,000)
- reductions are also proposed in part-time hours, overtime, office materials and services and professional development.
