Spring has Sprung...! Well maybe not quite yet, but many people don't realise that they should be planning NOW for a Spring Real Estate move. It takes an average of around five to six weeks from listing, for a house to sell and typically two to three months to close, so if you don't start planning now - you could miss the peak of the Spring market!
 OK then - let's assume that you want to find yourself a great Real Estate Salesperson, but how do you choose the right one for you? Recommendations are always a good place to start. I have been very fortunate to meet some really great people this year and I thought that it might help you to see what my clients are saying about the kind of service that I provide.

It was our good fortune to meet you at an Open House. We felt very comfortable with you and liked you right away. Your experience, professionalism and honesty were apparent. We were impressed with the market appraisal presentation you did of our home... You coached us through the negotiations and advised us of all our options on how to get the best results. To say that we were thrilled with the end result is an understatement!... Even now, after the move, you have followed up with us and personally visited and welcomed us to our new home. Thank you again for everything. We will happily recommend you to anyone who is selling/buying a new home.

Peter clearly took the time to understand my situation and even though my search was at first slow, he stepped it up with a level of professionalism that made the house transaction go very smooth. Thanks Peter!
