Retiring firefighters honoured

Halton Hills Fire Protection and Prevention Services held its annual awards and graduation night at John Elliott Theatre recently. Three firefighters were presented with their helmets as they officially retired from the service. Among those retiring were (from left) Firefighter Jim Endean, Fire Chief and Director Bob Meads and Captain Bert Venema.

Clarification

Ward 4 councillor had read Fire Services Master Plan

In an Independent & Free Press story, Town tax hike of $50 approved, published Friday, Feb. 2, a budget discussion on the hiring of firefighters this year was reported.

The story indicated Ward 4 Councillor John Duncan, who attempted during the debate to hire only two firefighters instead of the approved four, had not read the Fire Services Master Plan.

He said he was referring in the debate to another 'plan' (a council report on the hiring of full-time firefighters) as one he had not read.

Marshall named fire chief

"There's a lot to do ...and I have a great team of firefighters to do it with," he said.

His promotion is the result of "an open competition involving qualified internal and external candidates," stated a Town press release Monday night.

"The Town is extremely fortunate to be able to continue the Town's tradition of proven leadership in the fire chief position," said Town CAO Dennis Perlin, pointing to Marshall's previous experience in the fire service as well as his extensive municipal career in public works and administration.

Councillor Clark Somerville, chair of the Corporate Affairs Committee said he pleased with the appointment of Chief Marshall and was impressed with the qualifications of all the internal and external applicants for the fire chief position.

Mayor Rick Bonnette said he is looking forward to working with Marshall in both his capacity as a Director of the Fire Protection and Prevention Services and as a member of the senior management team.
