Blowtorch sparks $90,000 fire

Property damage is estimated at about $90,000 after a fire to a residence on 15 Sideroad Saturday was ignited by people using a blowtorch to thaw a frozen copper pipe.

No one was injured. Nine vehicles from the Halton Hills Fire Department responded to the blaze, which spread quickly through the home, said Detective

Sergeant Peter Hodgson of Halton Regional Police.

Thieves made off with a trailer and two snowmobiles worth a combined $25,000 from a yard on Hwy. 25 sometime between Jan. 30 and Feb. 6.

The black 2005 ASHW 812 trailer with a Ski Doo logo on its side worth $5,000 and a pair of 2003 Ski Doo REV 6000 snow machines at $10,000 were stolen.

A snowplow blade and its forks went missing from the rear of the Food Basics store on Guelph St. in Georgetown last weekend.

Store employees discovered the theft Tuesday morning and had last seen the equipment Feb. 9. The eight-foot yellow plow blade and the black forks are valued at $4,900.
