NOTICE OF PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTRE

ATTEND AN OPEN HOUSE AND FIND OUT HOW CROSS CONNECTION CONTROL CAN PROTECT YOUR DRINKING WATER

Halton Region delivers safe and high quality drinking water to its commercial, institutional and residential customers. Providing clean, safe drinking water is an important responsibility, and Halton is a leader in water purification technology. Halton Regional Council approved the Cross-Connection Control By-Law #157-05 and the related policy, that came into effect January 1, 2006.

Cross connection control or backflow prevention, helps to ensure that the drinking water supply is protected against the entry of contaminants, pollutants, infectious agents or other materials and substances that may enter from outside sources.

Halton Region is hosting a series of Public Information Centres to provide industrial, commercial and institutional property owners and residents with information on Cross Connection and the steps you can take to prevent contamination of our drinking water supply.

because it's easy to do.

I live in an apartment and collect recyclable materials in my Blue Bag and bring them down to the Blue Bins. Containers go in one Blue Bin, and papers in the other Blue Bin. I remember to keep plastic bags out of the Blue Bins.

Give us your thoughts on GreenCart

Public consultation is an essential part of the decision-making process at Halton Region. Halton Regional Council is considering the possible expansion of the GreenCart region-wide from the current 5,000 home demonstration program. The GreenCart collects household food waste which is turned into compost.

We want to hear your thoughts on the GreenCart. Halton is hosting four public information centres, conducting a telephone survey and collecting comments through our website. There are three remaining open houses - April 12 (Milton), 16 (Oakville) and 19 (Burlington).

For more information please visit www.halton.ca/greencart, submit your comments by email to greencart@halton.ca or phone us. Thank you for participating.
