

Homecoming approaches

Homecoming 2007 is fast approaching and organizers were in the Georgetown Market Place Saturday registering people planning to show up for the three-day extravaganza July 27-29. Anne Crocker (left) with the Homecoming committee, discusses the event with fellow Georgetown resident Chris Briggs who said she is excited about seeing old friends this summer. For more on the event see page 14.

Man seen exposing himself in park

Halton Police are looking for a man who was sitting in Prospect Park naked from the waist down Sunday afternoon.

At about 3:20 p.m. a Georgetown woman saw the man sitting on a bench in an isolated area of the park.

Police say the woman saw the man put his shorts on before walking through a more populated area of the park.

Before leaving, police say the man was seen speaking with two boys aged 12 to 14. He then left on foot in an unknown direction.

The man is described as white, 5'8" to 5'10", approximately 40 years old, with a medium build and dark, short, curly hair. He was clean-shaven with a medium-coloured complexion.

He was wearing a red sweatshirt, a black t-shirt and black shorts. Police say the man appeared to have a slightly hunched back while he was walking.

Police urge parents to warn their children that if a man meeting the above description approaches them they should immediately seek out another adult.

Anyone with information about the man is asked to call Halton Police at 905-878-5511 ext. 2415 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS.

The two boys who were seen speaking to the man are also asked to contact police.
