

Globe to hold info night for fall production Singin' in the Rain

Georgetown Globe Productions presents Singin' in the Rain this fall at the John Elliott Theatre.
The transition from silents to talkies in the late 1920s made stars of nobodies and wrecked the careers of more than one squeaky-voiced silent star. In this stage adaption of the stellar 1952 MGM musical, matinee idol Don Lockwood suffers growing pains as he struggles to reinvent himself—and his uncouth costar—for the talking picture. This movie classic has been faithfully adapted by Broadway legends Betty Comden and Adolph Green from their original award-winning screenplay, featuring such well-loved songs as Good Morning, Make 'Em Laugh and of course, Singin' in the Rain.

An information night has been set for June 1, 7:30 p.m. at the St. John's Parish Hall, Winston Churchill Blvd, in Norval. Auditions are June 8 and 9, callbacks on June 16. Show dates are Nov. 22, 23, 24, 25 (matinee) 29, 30, and Dec. 1.

Rehearsals begin in September: Wednesday and Friday evenings and Sunday afternoons. Come see how you can get involved in Georgetown's award-winning musical theatre group. Contact deb.tilson@longslake.ca if you are unable to attend the info night.
