New centre will play host to several Acton Fall Fair events

EAMONN MAHER
Staff Writer

The 94th edition of the Acton Fall Fair, set for Sept. 14-16, will feature the opening of the new community centre on the grounds, an event worthy enough to be christened by "The "King".

Some of the fair's highlight attractions for this year's weekend of festivities will move into the Acton Agricultural Society's Dufferin Community Centre, located just inside the front gates of the Prospect Park Fairgrounds. The new building will provide 26,000 square feet of space along with an adjacent playing field to accommodate more visitors and exhibitors.

"It's a multi-purpose facility that gives us a lot of flexibility," said AAS president Dale Hewitt. "The home crafts people will now be indoors and we should have room for about 500 to 600 people to watch the entertainment shows that we have every year."

As well as the popular Miss Acton and Baby Show, the 2007 Leathertown fair welcomes three performers who are expected to draw many fans of Elvis Presley to the new venue. Celebrated tribute artists Justin Edwards of Roland, Oklahoma, Toronto's

Gino Minopoli and Irv Cass of Fenton, Michigan have starred at recent Collingwood Elvis Festivals and organizers hope the Saturday night show will be a big attraction.

"These three tribute artists finished in the top 20 at the world competition and we're excited to bring them into the fair," Hewitt added.

Alysha Brooke will perform Sunday in the community centre with shows at 1 and 3 p.m.

Also new this year is an agricultural awareness tent with displays and presentations, along with fair mainstays such as Saturday's heavy horse show, truck and tractor pull, cattle show and the noontime parade.

Robertson Amusements will operate a midway and the Northern Borders Flyball & Canine Performance Team have demonstrations set for Saturday afternoon.

Admission is $8 for adults, $7 for youths (13-17) and seniors, $3 for children (under five admitted free), or $18 for a weekend pass. Parking is $5 per vehicle.
