Police say youths spotted throwing items off overpass

Halton Police are asking for help from the public in identifying who has been throwing items at vehicles from the railway overpass at Princess Anne Dr. over the past months.

Police say the most recent incident occurred at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday when a woman was driving under the overpass in a Neon with her two children. A rock hit the roof of her car, causing about $500 damage. The woman stopped and an unknown man said that youths on the tracks above were responsible.

Police were called but the youths had fled. Police say there have been several similar incidents at the overpass in the past year and ask anyone with information about Tuesday's incident or previous ones to contact Const. Ken Best at 905-878-5511 ext. 2105.

Police also ask the man who spoke to the woman in the Neon to contact Best as he may have information to assist in the investigation.
