George Bargis & Shaun Krysa

At Mortgage Edge, George Bargis and Shaun Krysa do the legwork so you don't have to - literally. The mortgage agents travel around the area to do in-home meetings with their clients.

Since opening Mortgage Edge in November, Shaun and George have been helping Halton Hills residents get the mortgage rates that best suit their needs. Both are mortgage agents licensed by the Independent Mortgage Brokers Association and can draw from a pool of 50 lenders - including five major banks - to get the best rates possible, whether for residential, commercial or industrial purposes.

"We're here to make it as easy a transaction as possible," says Shaun. "Our satisfaction is getting somebody into a home."

Each time George and Shaun help a client, they help a charity as well. For every deal they close, the two will donate $100 in their name or in their client's name to the Children's Wish Fund.

"We want to help families who need it," Shaun says.

Ed Pacheco and Rob Whyte

Have you always wanted a remote starter for your car? Do you dream of a top-of-the-line car stereo? Do you wish you had a built-in DVD player in your mini van? Rob Whyte and Ed Pacheco at Audioland Customs can turn your car dreams into reality.

At the shop, which opened in November in the Kia dealership at the corner of Guelph and Mountainview in Georgetown, Rob and Ed help their clients customize their cars, from wheels and paint jobs to custom-made interiors and sound systems. There is no limit to what they can do.

"Anything you can dream, I'll make it work," says Ed, the shop's installer. "The sky's the limit."

Ed has more than 25 years of experience customizing cars and has worked on all types of vehicles, from Pintos to Lamborghinis. In that time, Ed has seen it all. He has installed computers, video game systems and, in his most elaborate job to date, even a set of working turntables.

"Ultimately, we want the customer to walk out of here with a smile on their face," says Rob, the owner of the shop.

Join Audioland Systems at the beginning of May as they celebrate their grand opening with great deals and good food.

Nicole & Monica

At Great Expectations and Revitalize Day Spa you two high-end, high-quality beauty businesses in one convenient, downtown Georgetown location.

Nicole Rayner and Paolo Rogato own and operate Great Expectations - a classy, high-end salon with a comfortable and friendly atmosphere. The stylists at Great Expectations, which opened in 1999, are all colour specialists and can provide any and all hair services except extensions. Their styling tools are all by Bio Ionic and use a naturally-occurring negative ion therapy that is a natural way to heal hair while drying and styling.

Revitalize Day Spa was added to the business in 2003. Owned and operated by Paolo and managed by Monica Rogato, the spa is renowned for offering 20 different types of facials, as well as their other relaxing spa treatments.

Both Great Expectations and Revitalize Day Spa use natural, organic products.

"My goal is to help people feel better," says Nicole, who has 18 years of experience in Georgetown hair salons. "We use products that are safe for the client, safe for us to use and safe for the environment."

Liz Masson & Brad Mailloux

Five years ago, Halton Hills was full of runners who had nowhere to go to get quality, professional-fitted shoes. Then Feet In Motion opened in downtown Georgetown and all that changed.

Owned and operated by business partners Liz Masson and Brad Mailloux, Feet In Motion offers clothing, accessories and supportive footwear to people of all ages and levels of fitness. The family shoe store is well-known for its shoe fittings and often gets referrals from podiatrists and chiropractors to help people with foot problems get the best shoe for their needs.

"We try to educate our customers to look after their feet before foot problems occur," Liz says. "You only have two feet to get you through the rest of your life."

Liz and Brad, who are both active runners, encourage their customers to get active as well through their run clinics. Whether you just want to learn to run or you're training for a triathlon, Feet In Motion has a clinic to for all levels.

"Halton Hills is such an active community," Liz says. "There are so many runners, walkers and cyclists - it's great!"
