Guelph man facing several charges

Halton Police have charged a Mississauga woman in connection with the head-on collision on Ninth Line March 16 that claimed the life of a Georgetown man.

Kristie Johnson, 20, has been charged with careless driving. She is to appear in court on the charge June 16.

Police say Johnson was driving a Honda Prelude southbound on Ninth Line between Five and Ten Sideroads at about 9:30 p.m. when she passed a vehicle travelling in the same direction and struck a north-bound Cavalier driven by Kellie Thompson, 35, of Georgetown. A passenger in the Cavalier, Robert Thomas, 44, also of Georgetown died in the crash.

Thompson received life-threatening injuries, but has since been released from hospital. Johnson suffered minor injuries in the collision.

A Guelph man is facing several drug-related charges after police observed a man's activities in front of a Queen St. Acton residence at about 2:50 p.m. Friday.

Police arrested the man, but he escaped and fled on foot. Police chased the man for about a kilometre before they nabbed him.

A quantity of marijuana and cocaine was seized from the man.

Charged with possession of cocaine for the purpose of trafficking, possession of a controlled substance, obstruct police and escape lawful custody is Matthew Edward Snyder, 27, of Imperial Rd. N.
