Campbell Parker of the Halton Hills peewee #1 Bulldogs tries to manoeuvre his way for a shot on goal against Brampton at last weekend's Ontario Minor Field Lacrosse A division championships in Kitchener. The Bulldogs were edged in their opening game by Oshawa and dropped this contest to Brampton 11-6 despite a pair of goals by Parker, before being eliminated with a loss in their third game of the tournament.

Impact collect silver at national tourney

It's been a whirlwind month of May for Georgetown's under-16 girls' Impact as the standout volleyball squad competed at two national championship tournaments, earning a silver medal in one and a top-eight placing in the other.

At the under-17 Tier II nationals in Ottawa, the provincial champion Impact was seeded third in its preliminary pool but reeled off wins over Winnipeg, Cambridge and another Ontario team before rolling through to the quarterfinals.

Georgetown beat the favoured Peel under-17 Selects from Brampton 23-25, 25-20, 16-14 and then knocked off another #1 seed, the Scarborough Titans, 25-22, 25-23 in the final four to reach the finals.

Kingston under-17 Pegasus was the opposition and knocked off the Impact 25-23, 17-15, 15-11 to win the tournament.

The local side was seeded ninth out of 108 teams in Canada for the under-16 Tier I championships in Calgary, having placed fourth in Ontario at the playdowns in April.

Despite the absence of six-foot middle player Lindsay McCabe, who was unable to travel with the team, the Impact was again able to make it to the final round of eight teams, eventually falling to the Brandon Storm of Manitoba 15-25, 22-25.

Georgetown was the only entry in the tourney to take a game from the eventual champion Calgary Dinosaurs.

The provincial under-17 champion Georgetown under-16 Impact came up just short of winning the Canadian under-17 Tier II tourney in Ottawa and also had a good showing at the national under-16 Tier I event in Calgary earlier this month. Team members (front, from left) are: Tory McCracken, Nicole Bond, Hillary Banks, Haley Besworth, Sarah Traynor. Back row: Coach Kevin Hughes, Nicole Arthurs, Sarah Chapin, Arissa Fogolin, Lindsay McCabe, coach Patty Hall.
