Globe to start youth company

Are you between the ages of eight and 20? Ever wondered what it would be like to be part of a musical on stage? Want to hang out with other musical theatre fans?

By popular demand, Georgetown Globe Musical Productions is launching a youth company this fall with a workshop series aimed at getting both newbies and seasoned actors up to speed on what it takes to be part of a musical.

The series will be led by Globe's best directors and will include the topics of improvisation, vocals, makeup/staging, drama and how to audition.

The fall session with five workshops is $125 per child.

Workshops will be held every other Sunday afternoon throughout the fall starting on September 21 leading up to December auditions for the May 2009 youth production of The Wizard of Oz.

Registration is 7-9 p.m. this coming Wednesday and Thursday (September 17/18) at St. John's United, 11 Guelph St., Georgetown.

For more information contact 416-575-1232.

Time to register for library preschool programs

Halton Hills Public Library offers free programs for children, aged six-months to five years. You can register online beginning this week at www.library.hhpl.on.ca. Programs begin in October and are offered in both branches.

For babies 6-23 months and their grownups there's Baby Tales, for two year-olds and their grownups, there's Tales for Twos, and for 3-5 year-olds there's Library Lion Tales.

The library also provides drop-in programs that do not require registration. For details call 905-873-2681 ext. 2520 or 905-853-0301.
