Preliminary Town tax hike set at 7.5%

CYNTHIA GAMBLE
Staff Writer

It's still early in the game, but staff asked for—and received—approval from Halton Hills council to begin preparing the 2009 operating and capital budgets that could mean an $81 increase on next year's tax bills.

Town Treasurer Ed DeSousa outlined the financial challenges facing the town at Monday's council meeting, when defining his need for a 7.5 per cent town budget increase. That represents a $26.9 million operating budget—$1,155 for each property owner with homes assessed at $300,000, $81 over last year's budget.

The increase—which could change in the coming months—reflects a 4.3 per cent base budget increase, a 1.2 per cent Fire Services Levy, 1.2 per cent Special Infrastructure Levy, plus a new 0.8 per cent Library Operating Levy.

Combined with expected Halton Region and school board tax increases, the overall tax impact on the average homeowner with a property assessed at $300,000 will be 4.1 per cent or $130.

"We always come out with budget directions at this time of year, but that doesn't mean those will be the numbers come January ... we'll have lots of time to discuss numbers and figures, etc.," said Mayor Rick Bonnette.

"It is a tough time. Every year it has been tougher. Last year it's getting more difficult with the low growth, and growth not paying for itself."
