Five firsts for Catholic runners

Five Halton Hills-based runners earned first-place ribbons at last week's Halton Catholic District School Board's 2007 cross-country championships held at Bronte Creek Provincial Park last week.

St. Catherine of Alexandria student Michael Nicolucci didn't win his event, the midget division A race, but his third-place result marked the fifth year in succession that he has recorded a top-three finish.

Michael McAtamney, also a St. Catherine runner, has been on the podium three years in a row thanks to his win in the atom boys' division B.

Following are the individual and team standings for the five local-area schools who were represented at the meet:
