It's never too late to learn

LNH offers classes for adults and early school leavers

Literacy North Halton in partnership with Sheridan Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning are offering evening classes in math and English upgrading in Georgetown.

Do you need extra courses to gain admission to a college program?

Do you want to register as an apprentice but did not finish high school— or completed high school some time ago and need to review?

Do you need your "Grade 12 equivalency" to be considered for employment advancement or promotion?

The Academic and Upgrading program offers continuous intake all year round with classes running every Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, 6:30-9 p.m. at the Literacy North Halton Learning Centre in downtown Georgetown.

For more information call 905-873-2200.

McDonalds Fitness Challenge begins again

Across Halton Hills, kids can sprint and jump their way to new gym equipment for their schools.

Registration is open for the 2007/2008 Go Active! Fitness Challenge sponsored by McDonald's Restaurants of Canada, with support from the Canadian Olympic Committee (COC).

The Go Active! Fitness Challenge is an annual program that provides Canadian elementary schools the opportunity to earn $200 in phys-ed credits per participating class, up to a maximum of $500 per school.

Teachers can visit www.fitnesschallenge.ca before Friday, October 26, to register.

Participating teachers will test students on a series of six exercises: crunches, push-ups, 50-metre dash, shuttle run, standing long jump and an endurance run. Teachers test their students on the same six exercises once in the fall and again in the spring, aiming for individual improvement rather than focusing on excellence.
