

Boston Pizza aids Food for Thought

Boston Pizza will be raising funds today (Wednesday) for Halton Food for Thought to assist in starting new breakfast and snack programs in Halton Hills Schools.

Ten per cent of sales will be donated to the Halton Food for Thought and paper apple sales, mascots and celebrity servers will be part of the fundraising event. The restaurant is located at 319 Guelph Street.

One million children in Canada live below the poverty line and more than 10 per cent of children and youth arrive at school without breakfast, lunch or snacks to help sustain them for an entire school day. The connection between a healthy diet and a child's ability to learn is well documented.

"We are committed to kids and community," said Rhiannon McKane, manager for Boston Pizza. "Children arriving at school hungry lack energy, are lethargic and have difficulty concentrating, which impacts their academic and social abilities. We help build healthy communities through programs like Halton Food for Thought who ensure that children have the energy necessary to excel and reach their potential."

Funds raised through will help launch new programs in area schools. Currently, there are 12 nutrition programs, facilitating breakfast, snack or lunch programs impacting more than 3,351 children and youth in Halton Hills.

Cruise control

Boston Pizza Cruzers had another successful year, raising $3,874.75 with their 50-50 draws, in aid of the Georgetown Hospital Foundation. At their recent final cruise night of the year, Foundation rep (from left) Laurent Thibault and Foundation chair Paul Armstrong accepted a cheque from cruise night organizers Lee Martin, Tracy Knight, Mike and Lynne Boyd and Sharon Harrison.

Pre-hearing planned as developer fights heritage designation

A Conservation Review Board pre-hearing conference will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 31 on the Town's attempt to place a heritage designation on the Barber Mill property.

Developer of the site, Victor Boutin of Everlast Restoration Inc., has appealed the Town's decision. In a letter to Town of Halton Hills Planning Director Bruce MacLean in August, Boutin had outlined a long list of frustrations while trying to develop the site.

MacLean said at recent council meeting, Boutin has still not returned his call to clarify whether Everlast Restoration Inc. plans to go forward with the development of the River Road property.
